

OLD BAY THRASHERS

Old Bay Thrashers are a three piece band from the shores of the Chesapeake Bay in Baltimore, Maryland. The trio produces an eclectic blend of lyrics and melodies which are filled with dynamic twists and surprises. Guitarist Robert Carroll, Bassist Todd Spalt (Aka: Thimblewit) and Drummer Zak Concannon; each add their voice to the high energy harmonies in the songs written by the group. Social justice and environmental issues were major motivating forces behind the band's formation. From local clean water initiatives to International efforts towards protecting the planet, their emphasis is environmental awareness. In an era of vocoders and product placement, Old Bay Thrashers are a welcome exception. Dance-able rhythms and unique original tunes... with a backbone.

It is with a broad appreciation of musical styles that Old Bay Thrashers form their interesting sound. Anecdotes of inspiring historical struggles coupled with songs of poignant, contemporary criticism make for an engaging stage production. They have performed at Metro Gallery, Ryleigh's, Raven Inn, The Depot, Joe Squared, Ottobar, Sidebar, Rye, festivals and more. They have quickly gained the support of the local music scene and have already opened for some of their personal heroes such as War on Women, Agent Orange, 88 Fingers Louie and many others!
